POLS 2302 American Public Policy

Section D04

Course Description

This course will introduce you to the fundamentals of Texas government as well as exploring concepts within the topic of American Public Policy.

Contact Information

The answers to many questions can be found in Blackboard. Check this home page and Blackboard announcements first to see if your question is addressed. The teaching team will not respond to questions that have already been addressed in Blackboard.

In every email you send, you MUST include your name, course, and section number.

There are several sections of POLS online, and thousands of students. It is imperative when you contact someone for the course, you let us know the course and section in which you are enrolled.

This section will give you guidance on how to contact the teaching team for your course.

For course-related questions...

If you have a question about the course that is not answered in Blackboard, contact the Course Assistant.

Course Rules

1. You must have a consistent, functioning internet connection to take this course. As this is an online-only course, you are required to have access to the internet. It is your responsibility to ensure that your computer and connection are functioning properly. Technical problems are never an excuse for failed or incomplete work.

2. If you experience a technical or internet issue that affects your graded work, contact the Course Assistant immediately to alert the teaching team and have your issue investigated. However, this does not guarantee or imply an exception from Rule #1 or any accommodation, as technical problems are never an excuse for failed or incomplete work.

3. Always maintain professional and respectful language, both in emails and in your online coursework.

4. Any disruptive or disrespectful behavior will result in a loss of credit for the assignment and possibly a referral to the Office of Student Conduct. Racism, sexism, homophobia, or any other forms of bigotry are not acceptable in this class.

5. You are responsible for all information and announcements made in the course. Prepare to log onto Blackboard every day to check for updates, changes, or new information. Read the course home page thoroughly and check announcements daily. Course rules and expectations are subject to change.

6. Late work will not be accepted for any reason.

7. Students may not print, save, photograph, or make any record of graded content in this course.

Course Recommendations

These are distinct from the rules above, but should be read and understood for students who want to be successful.

1. Complete all of your work PRIOR to the deadline. There is no late work accepted in this course for any reason. Ever. Do your work well in advance of the deadline. The primary reason students do not succeed in this course is missed work.

2. Read and follow all directions. Students who do poorly on assignments have typically not followed all instructions. Read the directions, complete your work, then read the directions again and make sure you’ve followed all of them.

3. As you take quizzes and complete written assignments, base your responses primarily on the content you are being tested on. Do not try to Google the answers or seek information outside of the course. The graded assignments are very straightforward: engage in the course content, and then respond to the questions.

4. Read all content before asking questions. Try to find the answers on your own. The teaching team will not answer questions that can be answered on your own by reading information in Blackboard.

5. Pay close attention to the Academic Integrity policy. Please do not cheat, plagiarize, or lie about having completed an assignment when you haven’t.
6. Take advantage of all resources provided to you in this course. Make sure you have exhausted all opportunities to succeed.

Professionalism
Here is a quick-start on professionalism in your communication with the teaching team:

- Don't ask a question that you could have answered yourself. Read all information and instructions in Blackboard before you send an email.
- Use an appropriate Subject Line that identifies yourself and your concern (don't just say, "HELP")
- Address the recipient by his or her professional title, such as Professor, Dr., Mr., or Ms. (NOT Mrs. or Miss unless instructed otherwise)
- Your first sentence should introduce yourself and include your course and section number.
- Be specific about what your request is. Demonstrate that you have read and understood course information and instructions.
- Allow 24 hours for a response to your email during the week. Do not expect email responses on weekends. Do not send multiple emails on the same topic within a 24 hour period without waiting for a response.

If you send an email that does not follow these guidelines, don't be surprised if you get a response that states, "Please revisit the Professionalism section of your course home page and email again."

Required Materials

In order to access the content for your course, you must purchase course materials. This course’s content is delivered through McGraw Hill's interactive platform, Connect.

Your materials will come in the form of a printed access code. You will use this access code the first time you access Connect, which you can access by clicking on the "Connect" item in the left hand navigation bar of your Blackboard course and clicking to launch the Connect platform. The access code is one-time use only and cannot be shared.

You may purchase materials for your course from the TTU Barnes & Noble book store, or at the off campus bookstores. There is no alternative to purchasing the materials through a bookstore associated with Texas Tech University, and unfortunately, no temporary access codes are available. If you order the materials online, it may take several days for the printed access card to arrive to your shipping address. If you are unable to go to the bookstore to purchase your materials in person, you may want to consider calling the book store for assistance.

Please note: You cannot complete any assignments for this course without the access code, which is only available for purchase at one of the TTU book stores. Please purchase materials for this course immediately. There is no late work accepted in this course for any reason. Not having materials is not an excuse for late work.
If you have technical problem with your access code, please contact Dr. Kristina Mitchell, the Director of Online Education for the Department of Political Science, at kristina.mitchell@ttu.edu.

Course Due Dates

Late work will not be accepted for any reason.

NOTE: in Summer Sessions, each week of work is only 1-3 calendar days. Please pay close attention to course deadlines.

Grade Distribution

The grading breakdown for the course assignments is as follows:

- What’s the History Quizzes: 1.5% each (13.5%)
- Lecture Quizzes: 4% each (36%)
- Graded Lesson: 2% each (16%)
- How Can I Get Involved? Quiz: 2% each (18%)
- Unit 9 Pre-Test Quizzes: 2% each (4%)
- Unit 9 Discussion Post: 6.5%
- Unit 9 Post-Test Quizzes: 3% each (6%)

You can use this grade distribution to calculate what is possible for you based on your grades on assignments. Please note the weighting of each assignment and keep it in mind as you complete your work.

Final Grade Determination

90 & above: A
80-89: B
70-79: C
60-69: D
59 & below: F

We do not have a policy of rounding grades. Rounding and curving decisions are made by the professor after all final grades are calculated. Grades are not assigned based on individual need.

- Do not contact the teaching team with a question or request for your final grade to the rounded, curved, or increased.
- Do not contact the teaching team asking for extra credit that has not been specifically offered to the whole class via Blackboard announcement.

Other Grading Policies

- Final grades are final and non-negotiable. If you have a legitimate issue with an individual assignment or grade, we are happy to provide feedback and correct legitimate issues, but we do not bump grades up based on student requests.
- The addition of a + or – to a letter grade is at the discretion of the instructor.
- We will never submit a change of grade form for a +/-.
Late Work Policy

There is absolutely no late work accepted in this course for any reason. This policy is unflinchingly rigid and there are no exceptions. Under no circumstances will any component of the course be reopened for students to complete after the deadline, and under no circumstances will any submission be accepted after the deadline.

If you miss one week of work for any reason (personal, technical, medical, etc.), you have one option for making up the week of work. In the left-hand navigation bar, you will see an item titled "Makeup Exam." The Makeup Exam is a 25 question multiple choice comprehensive exam that is based on the content from the entire semester of POLS 2302. The grade you receive on the Makeup Exam can replace one missed week of work. The Makeup Exam is available during finals week and must be completed by the deadline (no late Makeup Exams will be accepted). Please click on the item titled "Makeup Exam" in the left-hand navigation bar of your Blackboard course for more information on the Makeup Exam.

In Summary: All work in this course is available to you from the first day of classes. Complete all of your work well in advance of deadlines. There is no late work accepted in this course for any reason. If you miss work, please read about the Makeup Exam.

The Teaching Team will not respond to emails asking if late work will be accepted.

If a situation arises in which a student has an emergency that involves university confirmed absence for a duration of longer than 2 weeks of this course, the student should contact the Dean of Students office. The Dean of Students will alert the professor, at which point the professor can consider the use of Makeup Essays to replace additional work. However, this is not a guarantee of any consideration of any kind, and only students who are absent from longer than 2 course weeks and who have been confirmed by the Dean of Students office have this option.

TTU Policies

Religious Holy Days
Texas House Bill 256 requires Institutions of higher education to excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day. The student shall also be excused for time necessary to travel. An institution may not penalize the student for the absence and allows for the student to take an exam or complete an assignment from which the student is excused. No prior notification of the instructor is required.

Disabilities
Any student who, because of a disability, may require special arrangements in order to meet the course requirements should contact the instructor as soon as possible to make any necessary arrangements. Students should present appropriate verification from Student Disability Services during the instructor’s office hours. Please note: instructors are not allowed to provide classroom accommodations to a student until appropriate verification from Student Disability Services has been provided. For additional information, you may contact the Student Disability Services office in 335 West Hall or 806-742-2405.

Academic Integrity
Cheating, plagiarism, or any other act of academic dishonesty will result in at minimum a 0 for the assignment, and up to a 0.0 for the course.
Academic integrity is just as important in an online course as it is in face-to-face classes. Your syllabus states that cheating, plagiarism, or any other act of academic dishonesty will result in a 0.0 for the course.

For the purposes of this course, cheating is defined as, but not limited to:

- Working with another student on course content
- Taking pictures, screen shots, or making record of graded content
- Sharing quiz or exam questions or answers with another student
- Using quiz or exam questions or answers provided by another student
- Finding quiz or exam questions or answers online in order to enhance course performance
- Allowing anyone else access to your Blackboard course to view or complete course content

For the purposes of this course, plagiarism is defined as, but not limited to:

- Using a copyrighted resource for research without properly citing its use
- Quoting from any source without properly citing
- Paraphrasing from any source without properly citing
- Presenting the work of another person as your own

Please note that lying or misrepresenting facts is a violation of Texas Tech's Code of Conduct. Claiming that you completed an assignment when you did not is lying and can result in a referral to the Office of Student Conduct. Blackboard provides extensive records on everything you access when you are in this course. Please do not lie about your course participation.

By entering and completing assignments in this course, you agree you will not cheat or engage in any form of academic dishonesty.

For more information on TTU’s Academic Integrity Policy, see: http://www.depts.ttu.edu/dos/handbook/.

Student Learning Objectives (SLOs)

At the completion of the course, students will be able to:
1. Explain the origin and development of the Texas constitution.
2. Describe state and local political systems and their relationship with the federal government.
3. Describe separation of powers and checks and balances in both theory and practice in Texas.
4. Demonstrate knowledge of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of Texas government.
5. Evaluate the role of public opinion, interest groups, and political parties in Texas.
6. Analyze the state and local election process.
7. Identify the rights and responsibilities of citizens.
8. Analyze issues, policies and political culture of Texas.
9. Be able to demonstrate the effects of the US and Texas Constitutions on public policy.
Core Curriculum Statement

Students graduating from Texas Tech University should demonstrate an understanding of the organization and functions of the different levels of government in the United States, be able to explain the importance of the United States Constitution and those of the states, and be able to comment on the role of civic engagement in United States politics and culture.

At the completion of this course, students will be able to:
Demonstrate knowledge of the origins and evolution of U.S. and Texas political systems

PLEASE NOTE:

This syllabus is tentative and subject to change. All information in Blackboard is equally as binding as information in the syllabus. All information provided by the professor via email, Blackboard announcement, or other communication is equally as binding as information in the syllabus. The syllabus is not a binding contract from which the course & teaching team may not deviate. It is an outline and general guideline.
