Academic Integrity

“It is the aim of the faculty of Texas Tech University to foster a spirit of complete honesty and a high standard of integrity. The attempt of students to present as their own any work they have not honestly performed is regarded by the faculty and administration as a serious offense and renders the offenders liable to serious consequences, possibly suspension.” (2020-21 Texas Tech University Catalog, p.52). Academic Dishonesty, as defined in the catalog, “includes, but is not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, falsifying academic records, misrepresenting facts and any act designed to give unfair academic advantage to the students.” (2020-21 Texas Tech University Catalog, p.52).

A student who intends to observe a religious holy day should make that intention known in writing to the instructor prior to the absence. A student who is absent from classes for the observance of a religious holy day shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment scheduled for that day within a reasonable time after the absence. A student who is excused under section 2 may not be penalized for the absence; however, the instructor may respond appropriately if the student fails to complete the assignment satisfactorily.

You are expected to arrive on time for each class and be prepared to discuss the assigned reading. This demonstrates respect for the learning community we are creating for one another. Supporting one another in dialogue is expected. In this class, we want to hear your opinions and ideas, and those of others are to be respected and acknowledged even if you disagree with them. Although the instructor will provide lectures on course material, other teaching methods will be used from time to time, which will require participation and discussion on your part; this is when you have an opportunity to really demonstrate your knowledge.
